Flaunt your creative potential at ‘Carmen’, where emotions find themselves in words, and objects are enriched with life. Channelise your inner poet with heartfelt power and confidence, blending introspective poetry with breathtaking performance.

CARMEN—RULES OF PROCEDURE

GENERAL RULES:

- Participants will be given a list of three objects on the day of the event, all of which must feature in their poem. They must keep in mind the theme - Metamorphosis, while writing their poem.
- Participants must carry their own writing pads/boards and stationery (markers, pens, etc.)
- Writing papers will be provided.
- Each participant can submit only one poem.
- Every poem must have a suitable and appropriate title.
- Use of phones and artificial intelligence is strictly prohibited.
- Participants are allowed to refer to their poem while performing.

1. Creation Period:

Participants will write their poem centred around the objects assigned to them. A total of 1.5 hours will be given to fully conceptualise, create and refine their poem. The three objects assigned to them must reflect in their poem.

2. Submission and Screening:

All poems, after being submitted, will be screened for appropriate language and content after the creation period. Use of slurs, slang or inappropriate language will result in disqualification.
